

CAHE congratulates participants of the Soft Furnishing Class

Faculty of Education and Liberal Studies
(Family and Consumer Studies Unit)

The HR Wellness in collaboration with the Faculty of Education and Liberal Studies (Family and Consumer Studies Unit) hosted its 2nd Annual Sewing Class in July 2017.

This year the Instructor, Mrs. Shanique O’Gilvie-Rose, focused on Soft Furnishings. The four-week intensive programme catered to participants from all categories of staff (academic, administrative, technical and ancillary), who learnt the art of sewing cushions/covers, drapes, curtains and sheet sets among other items.

The Division of Human Resources congratulates the seven participants who have now either gained or sharpened their sewing and design skills. The Soft Furnishing Classes fall under the Creative Wellness Dimension which states that a person should value and actively participate in a diverse range of arts and cultural experiences as a means of understanding and appreciating the surrounding world. The closing ceremony, held on July 14, 2017, showcased the creativity of the participants. See highlights below:
